CALLS LIFE HURDLE RACE

Miss Helen Manley, Speaking Before Christian Endeavorers Last Sunday Evening. Draws Comparison Between Life and a Hurdle Race.

Miss Helen Manley in her talk to the Christian Endeavor Society of the Christian Church Sunday evening compared life to a hurdle race. She introduced her subject by the following definition, "In a hurdle race light obstacles are placed on the track at regular intervals; the runner is to leap over the obstacles."

Miss Manley divided the track hurdle race into five parts: The preparation, the start, the race, the finish, and the post finish.

In preparation, she said, a runner must be careful of diet, weight, and physical condition. He is taught to start and to finish correctly, and how to get over the tape. There is constant running—training in short sprints and the technique of jumping the hurdles. This brings the runner up to the night before the race, when he is instructed to go to bed early and to eat lightly next day.

In describing the start of the race, Miss Manley said that the runner contracts his muscles, toes the line with right foot back ready to push off, takes a deep breath, and at the pistol shot, leaps into the air and is off. The runner is careful not to start too soon, nor too late.

The coach directs the runner to run fast to get an even stride, to clear the hurdles the same way each time with one foot back and one forward. "Keep in the path with face front," he is told, "don't jerk, don't jump too high—just clear the hurdle."

On the finish, the runner should feel that some one is behind pushing him to leap into the air and throw himself over the tape.

At the post finish some one is ready to catch the runner, wrap him in a blanket, rub him down, and encourage him whether he has done well or not. This one may be a friend of the runner or it may be the coach. The runner is ready for the next cycle.

Miss Manley said that life may be compared to the race just described. The preparation is the training of parents, school teachers, and religious teachers. The start is being on time, getting a firm grip, and not starting too soon nor too late.

In the race of life the runner must keep the path. He finds that the hurdles are higher than he expected; they are not at regular intervals. Miss Manley explained by using a method of the student learns how to teach, but in actual teaching he finds problems which have never been discussed in class.

The speaker stated that there is a tendency for runners to get out of the path and use short-cuts to get ahead and in so doing lose the race. Many runners jump too high; this spends energy and sets false standards for the other fellow. The runners on the Life Track know how to run, and should help those who are not prepared.

Miss Manley closed her talk by showing how the end of life is like the end of the race. No matter how poorly the runner has done, there is always some one to receive him at the finish. It matters not how many hurdles he may have knocked down, if he has done his best, God is there with his blanket of love to receive him unto himself.

Awards Are Won In Swimming Classes

Eighteen members of the beginning swimming class have passed the fifty foot swimming test. These were awarded buttons which are given out by the American Red Cross. The following passed the test successfully: Mrs. Wadley, Grace Pierce, Lucille Lamar, Lenore Lavan, Ayla Wells, Mary Keith, Elizabeth Briggs, Geraldine Smith, Lucerna Easterly, Hazel Barton, Marjorie Morris, Alta Argo, Eva Powell, Florence Walker, Rosella Frogan, Roma Logan, Bernadine Yoder, and Opal Wilson.

In passing the test the swimmer uses any regular stroke. The majority start with the back stroke and then change to a side stroke. Several were able to swim the full width of the pool which is ninety feet.

The National Educational Association meets June 22 to July 3, in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Circle Dodge Ball Tournament Is Held

The department of physical education for women is helping to carry out the idea of Dr. Curtis, State Superintendent of Physical Education, who advocates Circle Dodge Ball, Volley Ball, Soccer Football, and Playground Baseball as games that every teacher should know. These games are played in the high schools, elementary and rural schools, and on public play grounds. About 130 girls are enrolled in the organized games classes this quarter, where the games which Dr. Curtis advocates are being taught.

Miss Manley has organized teams which will play these games in tournaments. Six teams were organized in Circle Dodge Ball. This tournament was played off Tuesday afternoon June 23. The captain of the teams were as follows: First team, Esther Gile; second team, Ruth Cline; third team, Eloise Ewing; fourth team, Florence Dunn; fifth team, Lorene Bruckner; and sixth team, Roberta Cook. Ruth Cline's team won the first game from Esther Gile's team. Florence Dunn's team won the second game from Eloise Ewing's team. The third game was won by Lorene Bruckner's team. In the semi-finals Ruth Cline's team was defeated by Florence Dunn's team. They then played Lorene Bruckner's team and were defeated.

The members of Miss Bruckner's winning team were: Lorene Bruckner, captain, Fern Murray, Ruby Jennings, Gladys New, Vera Clark, Opal Yoder, Claudine Mackey, Marjorie Dutton, Iola Curd, and Anna Mae Holt. Miss Manley was the referee and Miss Nora Parr the timekeeper. The clever dodging tactics of the players made the game interesting for the spectators.

Six teams for Volley Ball have also been organized. This tournament will be played off next week beginning with three games on Tuesday, June 30, one on Wednesday, and the last on Thursday. Each team has nine players. The captains are as follows: First team, Frances Alsun; second team, Zelma Campbell; third team, Opal Ingram; fourth team, Ruby Jennings; fifth team, Chloris Kisse; and sixth team, Roma Logan.

Amy Jones was a visitor at St. Joseph over the week-end.

Y'S HAVE MEETING TO HEAR REPORT

Two Religious Organizations Meet in Joint Session to Hear Reports by Boys Who Went to Hollister.

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. held a joint meeting Tuesday morning, June 23. The meeting was opened by singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "There's a Long, Long Trail." Marvin Westfall gave a piano solo. Irene Lowry led the devotional service. Charles and Arthur Elmore gave a vocal duet accompanied by Price Doyle.

Floyd Harvey and George Newman, representatives of the College Y. M. C. A. at the inter-state conference of Y. M. C. A. delegates at Hollister, Missouri, gave reports of the conference.

Mr. Newman spoke of the race question as one of the questions before the Conference. He said it was natural for each person to feel that his own race was superior but urged all to realize that this feeling of superiority must be conquered if race difficulties and prejudices were to cease. He said the Conference idea was, "Get acquainted with the foreign students—you might like them." In closing he said that every person had his own world to conquer, and should do his best to improve conditions around him.

Mr. Harvey talked on the purposes of the Y. M. and the Y. W. as brought out by conference discussion. The outstanding purposes he said were to strengthen the student's faith in God, to increase membership and service of students in churches, and to give them a greater interest in the study of the Bible. He said too many college students are indifferent to the religious organizations. He urged more students to attend the Y. M. and Y. W. meetings.

Iva Williams B. S. 1924, will teach English and History in the high school at Dettalb, the coming year. Last year she taught at Lewistown, Missouri. Miss Williams is attending S. T. C. this summer.

A group division in the class in introduction to Teaching had a picnic north of town Thursday afternoon from five to seven thirty.

ASSEMBLY HOURS ARE WORTHWHILE

Music Department Furnishes Program This Week—Dr. Keller Spoke at Last Week's Assembly.

A very pleasing program was given at Assembly Wednesday morning by representatives from the different departments of the College Conservatory of Music: Children's department, voice, piano, and band and orchestral instruments. The following is the program given.

Piano Solo—Second Waltz in A Major (Durant)—Mary Jackson. Solo—Nocturne (Curran)—Alyce Allen.

Piano Solo—Turkey in the Straw (Gulon)—Ruth Houchens.

Trío—The Bird and the Babe (Lieurance).

Violin—Margaret Dietz. Cello—Dorothy Cave. Piano—Gertrude Belt.

The principal talk of the assembly hour last week was given by Dr. Keller, of the Education Department, who said in part:

"The greatest need of our schools is better trained teachers. There has been a remarkable increase of college students in the teacher training departments. Out of 550,000 students enrolled in colleges of this country, approximately 250,000 are taking teacher training work. This increase is due partly to the increase of salaries, and the advance of teaching as a profession. The producing of a surplus of trained minds in this country will necessarily cause an overflow of trained people to foreign countries where they go for larger financial gains. These foreign countries will send us in return their surplus of unskilled laborers. This is a great educational problem which must be faced and solved by the people. Three things were given as factors in solving this problem:

(1) A fuller spirit of democracy; (2) An adequate financial situation for education; (3) Trained teachers.

It becomes necessary to train people to get the most out of life regardless of money-values. The safety of the public depends on the teachers for they are the ones most interested in the welfare of America's future citizens. There is no calling, except parent-hood as noble as teaching. Teachers are the molders of destiny. They enlarge the life of others and shall preserve America by teaching the children."

High School Organization Meets.

The Eta Beta Pi society of S. T. C., held a social meeting Friday night at the Newman Club House. This organization is composed of high school students. The rooms were decorated with garden flowers. Following orchestra practice, games and dancing were enjoyed. During the evening punch was served.

Linnie Miller spent the week-end in Stanberry with Lena Hughes. Miss Miller resigned her position in the Stanberry Public Schools for a position in the St. Joseph schools.

Sunday, June 28 will be banner day and annual picnic day for the College Class of the Christian Church. Dr. Keller, who teaches the class, is expecting to have at least 275 people in the class next Sunday and would like to reach the 300 mark.

The class will meet at 9:15 for a fifteen minute song service under the direction of Mr. Price Doyle. At 9:45 pictures of the class will be taken. Immediately after church services the men's class will transport the members of the college class to the Tourists' Park where the annual picnic will be held. The plates will be 30 cents and this includes the price of a fine program and a general good time. All who have ever attended the class are urged to come and bring their friends.

Wilma Frogge visited with her parents near St. Joseph this week-end. While returning to Maryville she became ill, and was forced to return home until her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barmann have returned from their wedding trip to the south. Mrs. Barmann will be remembered as Miss Clara for LaMar, a former student of S. T. C.

Miss Katherine Franken, while out walking Sunday, sprained her ankle and consequently was not able to be in school Monday.

Ballad Of Nancy Jane

A maiden young was Nancy Jane. A maiden fair was she. With rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes, She came to S. T. C.

At S. T. C. they fed her on Those "ologies" galore. History of Ed. and Principles, Education fifty-four.

History of English Literature, Sixty-two A and B, Primary methods, algebra, Trig. and geometry.

Library references they assigned Ten, more or less each day, With page after page in the text to be read, With perhaps an extra essay.

They gave her problems to hand in And diagrams to draw Till Nancy Jane began to wish, She had stayed at home with Ma.

Notebooks there were to be kept up, And lesson plans to make, With here and there spread in between A few exams to take.

Thus to Nancy Jane was given, This work to do each day, And then, in manner innocent, The faculty would say.

When all this work you have done And you've nothing else to do You might write up a nice report And make a survey, too.

Now Nancy Jane was fair and young, Not wise as you and I; She had not learned 'the gift of gab,' Or just how to "slip by."

So all the time she worked and toiled From late at night till day Till pale and wan quite soon she grew And finally passed away.

Now when her true love, Percy Jones, Of her sad fate did hear, He moaned and groaned and wept aloud Then madly tore his hair.

"Oh now that Nancy Jane is dead, This world means naught to me So suicide I will commit By going to S. T. C."

—An Unknown Victim.

The out-of-the-District Group met in Mr. Miller's room, Friday, June 19, at 2:20 p. m., to arrange for a picnic. The picnic will be held south of town Friday evening, June 26.

STUDENT COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Alice Thompson, a former student of S. T. C., will leave July 22, for Boulder, Colorado.

Meets Also With Welfare Committee Tuesday to Make Plans for New "M" Book and for Social Calendar.

The Student Council held its regular meeting Thursday, June 18, at Residence Hall. Harry Nelson, senior representative, Wilson Craig, Philomathean representative, and Zona Hoyt, Excelsior representative, were seated on the council. The freshmen and sophomore representatives were seated because of an irregularity in the elections. However, these classes have been instructed to elect regularly and, if representatives are so chosen within the first twenty school days of this quarter they will be seated and the organizations will not lose their representatives on the Council.

Grace Foster was elected secretary of the Council to take the place of Roberta Cook, whose term had expired.

A joint meeting of the Student Council and Welfare Committee was called for Tuesday afternoon. At that time the new student "M" book was discussed and the contents determined. Also a social calendar for next year was partially worked out.

This second edition of the handbook is expected to surpass the first in many ways. It will be a larger book; contain more pages; have complete information on athletics and organizations; embody a copy of the constitution; and contain rules pertaining to the actions of freshmen.

Plans are being made for issuing each student an "M" book as he enrolls next fall.

The members of the Council now working on the Handbook are: Clarence Rising, Temple Allen, Ray Bloomfield, Harry Nelson, Grace Foster, Zona Hoyt, and Wilson Craig.

Curtis Robison Loses Life While Diving

Curtis Robison of St. Joseph was fatally injured, Sunday June 21, while picnicking at Sugar Lake, south of St. Joseph. Mr. Robison was at one time a student of S. T. C., and was a brother to Mrs. Clyde Sawyers, who is in school this quarter.

The family had gone with friends for an outing in the afternoon. Mr. Robison in diving into the lake, struck his head in such a way, as to break his neck. He died Monday afternoon at the Missouri Methodist Hospital. He is survived by his wife and two small daughters.

Mr. Robison had lately been connected with the International Correspondence Schools, with headquarters in the Logan building, St. Joseph. Just last week, he visited the College in the interest of that business.

Edna Dietz, a teacher in the Sioux City, Iowa, schools, came last week to spend the summer in Maryville with her parents. Her sister, Mrs. John Staads and little daughter accompanied her home for a visit. Miss Dietz and Mrs. Staads are both former students of the College, and are sisters of Grace and Margaret Dietz, who are now in school.

Mabel Raines, B. S., A. B., is with her parents on a two weeks' motor trip to St. Louis and Louisville, Kentucky. Mr. Raines attended the annual convention of the American Optometric Association at Louisville.

Twenty Girls Occupy Newman Club House

The Newman Club House is proving to be an especially popular place to stay. The house is under ordinary circumstances supposed to hold eighteen girls, but this summer twenty girls and Misses Katherine and Margaret Frank are staying there.

The idea of providing a club house has been a dream of the Newman Club for several years, but finances have up until last September proved too difficult an obstacle to overcome.

Last summer when plans were made to turn the house at 311 West Third street into an apartment house, Miss Katherine and Miss Margaret Frank saw its possibilities and wondered if it could profitably be turned into a club house. Upon investigation they found several prominent citizens who were interested in the idea. Interest grew among the college students, and as interest grew the funds grew. The dream of the Newman Club has now become a reality.

The Newman Club can be justly proud of the fact that the furniture is practically paid for, and a thousand dollar payment has been made on the house. Now they are planning to raise funds to buy a piano.

Most of the girls are doing light housekeeping. Each group is required to make out a menu for each week to be turned in to the house supervisor. These menus are inspected and are required to be balanced and sufficient. The plan has been very satisfactory this year, and has worked with practically no friction.

When the house is paid for, the ultimate plan is to allow poor but worthy girls to stay in the club house until they have enough college work to enable them to teach. After they have taught two years they may begin paying the club for their room, plus one per cent interest. They have five years to finish the payment.

Those that are staying at the Newman Club House this quarter are Nora Kelly, Maye Sturm, Mrs. D. L. May, Nora Felix, Rita Fisher, Beulah Tillett, Lola Tillett, Irene McNeal, Mary Etta Nash, Mary Werth, Alice Lawler, Mrs. J. Walkup, Ruth White, Thelma Massey, Mary Sybilla Franken, Helen Hankins, Gertrude Sturin, Layvon Gabbert, Marie Farnman, Nellie Farnman, Miss Katherine and Miss Margaret Frank.

PUTS THEORY INTO ACTUAL PRACTICE

Student in Vitalized Agriculture Study Cement Work and Then Lay Down Concrete Walk.

The members of the Vitalized Agriculture class are combining theory and practice in their work this summer and theory is not being stressed at the expense of practice.

The first part of the term was spent in studying cement and its uses. The class experimented with the different mixtures to determine the strength for the various purposes. Before leaving the study of cement the class built a concrete walk near the hog shed on the state farm. The computing of the quantity of materials needed and the actual construction were done by the class so that their knowledge of cement work is first hand.

The next project taken up was the study of horticulture. This included a survey of the fruits raised in this locality together with the methods of culture and enemies of orchards. On Thursday of last week the class visited the orchard near President Lamkin's residence. They examined the orchard for the various enemies of fruits, did some grafting, and observed the effects of pruning. Besides this work, they got experience in spraying vegetable crops. They have completed their reports on horticulture and are now taking up the study of rope.

This will include the construction of machines for the making of rope and the making of rope. The making of rope will be correlated with language, biography, geography, arithmetic, and history. All the knots and hitches used on the farm will be studied in connection with the study of rope.

The state course of study is being followed in this course, which makes it practical for teachers of agriculture in high schools and especially good for rural teachers because the work is especially adapted to their needs.

Anna Olsen visited her parents near St. Joseph this week. Miss Olsen is principal of the Pickett School in Buchanan County.

TEACHER TO GO TO SYRIA

Miss Teagarden Will Leave August 28 For Beirut, Syria to Teach in American School for Girls—She Must Learn Arabic Language.

Miss Irene Teagarden, who for the past two years has been an instructor in the Department of Home Economics of S. T. C., will sail from New York City, August 28, for Beirut, Syria, where she is being sent by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions as an instructor of Home Economics and allied sciences in the American Schools for Girls. Beirut is a city of considerable size on the Mediterranean coast.

Her first duty upon her arrival will be to learn the Arabic language. Her first teaching will be that of chemistry for pre-medical students. While engaged in this work and in the mastery of the Arabic language, Miss Teagarden expects to make a thorough study of Syrian customs, homes, clothing, and foods by actually going into the homes and associating with the people themselves. This work will require at least one year and upon the knowledge thus gained she expects to build up a department of home economics which will not be like American home economics but will be strictly Syrian.

The College regrets its loss of Miss Teagarden as a member of the faculty but rejoices with her for having attained the goal which has been her desire for several years. Her application for foreign work was accepted by the Mission Board about the same time she came here as instructor, but an appointment was not made until May 13, 1925.

Miss Teagarden is well qualified and capable of performing the duties entrusted to her. She has a B. S. degree from the University of Montana and an M. A. Degree from the University of Illinois. She has held a position as instructor in the department of science in each of these schools.

Miss Teagarden returned to S. T. C., May 15, after a two weeks absence during which time she attended a conference in New York City for the final instruction of Presbyterian missionaries who are to sail in the near future. There were sixty-nine new missionaries at this conference.

The College wishes Miss Teagarden a pleasant voyage and success in her new work. It is glad for associations with her and feels proud that she goes out from here to do such uplifting work in a foreign field.

The weather was so delightful last week-end that Residence Hall was the scene of a considerable exodus. Forty-two girls spent the week-end from the Hall. The previous week-end was so rainy that very few were away.

President and Mrs. Lamkin and son, Lilly, N., and Mrs. Charles Lamkin and two sons Henry and Charles, Jr., of Keyserville were dinner guests of Dean Bernard, Mrs. Kerr, and Miss Elwell, June 21.

Miss Goldie Carmichael of Pickering a former student of S. T. C., left Sunday, June 14, for the west. She will attend the summer session of the University of California at Berkeley. Miss Carmichael expects to visit other western cities before returning.

Pi Omega Pi Has Initiation Banquet

The informal initiation of the new members of the Pi Omega Pi, commercial club, was held last Friday evening in the east gymnasium of the College building. The following members were initiated: Cleo Holt, Mrs. C. W. Rogers, Essie Ward, Amy Barrett, Ralph Shrewsbury, George Newman, Glen Wakely, and Jessamine Williams.

The formal initiation took place Saturday afternoon in the recreation room. Those initiated were the following: Amy Barrett, Essie Ward, Ralph Shrewsbury, George Newman, and Glen Wakely. Following this initiation, a banquet was held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Staads. The banquet was served by the Western Sunday School Class of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

The program rendered during the banquet consisted of a piano solo, Mrs. "Eloise in G Major" by Emma Allen and a vocal solo, "The Lord's Prayer" by Emma Allen and Emma Allen. The program was most enjoyable.

COLLEGE OATH.

"We will never bring disgrace to this college, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the college. We will reverence and obey the college laws and do our best to induce a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this college to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

CURRICULUM AND COURSE.

For the benefit of students who confuse the meaning of "course" and "curriculum" as differentiated in meaning in modern usage, the following summary is given.

"Curriculum" is a word borrowed from Latin. Its plural is curricula. In the original tongue the word means race, from the Latin verb curro, I run. Curriculum is also the term applied to the course over which one runs. By analogy, the word has come to mean in English the course of studies over which one runs, so to speak, in completing the work of a school.

In modern school usage the words course and curriculum have come to be differentiated in meaning. A course means primarily a single unit of work in the school career of the pupil. For example a course in psychology runs for a semester, a term, or a quarter. Its completion entitles one to a certain number of credits—two, three, or five which may be applied to the total number of credits required for the completion of a curriculum specified for graduation. The term curriculum is used to apply to a series of courses running through a period of from two to four years all of which are prescribed to accomplish a unified purpose.

CLUBS ONE MAY JOIN AT S. T. C.

There are a number of organizations in S. T. C. which should be a vital part of the student life. While belonging to too many clubs is not wise, it is safe to say that every student should belong to at least one.

SERVICE "BEFORE" YOU WAIT

We have four experienced barbers in our shop and we can usually give you service without waiting except for the rush periods.

But the rush periods show that many people prefer to wait in order to get the kind of barber work that suits them. There must be a reason. Let us show you.

dent, would be greatly benefited by belonging to from one to three organizations. If the subject that you are majoring in has an organization it would be wise for you to join that organization, and make it one great importance in your estimation. It will give you stimulation and a feeling of loyalty to the school if you feel you are really a part of some school organization.

The Philomatheans, the Eurekaans, and the Excelsiors are the three literary societies which meet every Thursday at three-twenty. While for the most part membership is restricted, anyone may visit their meetings.

The orchestra meets every week for practice and summer school students who play instruments are asked to see Mr. Gardner if they wish to become members of the orchestra. The orchestra meets every week for practice and summer school students who play instruments are asked to see Mr. Gardner if they wish to become members of the orchestra.

Two athletic societies are functioning in S. T. C. The W. A. A. and the "M" Club have both been vital organizations in the life of the college.

Among the clubs of special departments are the Social Science Club, Pi Omega Pi, (Commercial), Kappa Omicron Phi (Home Economics) the Vitalized Agriculture Club, the Rural Club. The Y. W. C. A. for women, the Y. M. C. A. for men, and the Newman Club for Catholic students both men and women, are the religious organizations of the school.

The Eastern Stars have an organization here; so do the Masons. In fact any organization in the college that would be suitable for any student. Join one.

Department Notes

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

Mr. Rogers reports that practically one third of the students here this summer are taking work in the Department of Commerce and Business Administration. He says that prospects indicate a good enrollment in that department, for the coming school year, judging from the large number of people who have been interviewing him concerning courses to be given. Just this week a noted traveling salesman from Iowa, who had heard of the Commercial Department here, through another salesman, brought his son here to get Mr. Rogers to assist them in arranging a course for the son for the coming year.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT.

Very often requests have been made to the English department for contemporary essays, novels, and poems. Miss Lowery has compiled a very interesting group suitable for high schools with particular emphasis upon a group of essays in it.

Sometimes it is very difficult to find these so the English department will be glad to offer suggestions as to the use of them and students may even obtain copies from this department.

People enjoy things more if they but know where to obtain them and no doubt this is a work often neglected by high school teachers.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

One hundred and sixty-five pupils are enrolled in the Public Speaking department this term. This is a larger number than has ever been enrolled in that department. This shows that interest in that department is increasing. In one public speaking class Mr. Miller had to make three sections. He had to close the story telling class when the enrollment reached thirty-seven.

Mr. Miller's work in public speaking has been accepted at full credit in the California University, Chicago University, and other universities throughout the country.

DRAMATICS.

Miss McClannahan has thirteen private students this summer besides her regular classes in dramatics. This shows an increasing interest in dramatic work which it is hoped will continue to grow at S. T. C.

FINE ARTS.

Have you seen your favorite movie star? If not, stop and look at the art exhibit on the second floor. Among the you will find Jackie Coogan, Norma Talmadge, and Rudolph Valentino.

These studies were done by the "Introduction to Art" class but have the appearance of professional work. The problem has been a study in pen and ink technique, and various types of handling are represented.

The Costume Designing class have worked out very cleverly, which colors make those who wear them appear most interesting to society. This problem was worked out by Miss Anderson's taking her class to Residence Hall, where they tried on dresses of various colors and shades before a mirror. Each one was allowed to judge for herself which colors were the most becoming to her, the final decision, however, being left to the class.

Designs for pins or rings, which may possibly be awarded to those attaining honors in fields other than athletics, are being worked out by the Art Structure class.

The preliminary designs have already been made and they will be finished within the next two or three weeks.

The Faculty Women's Rest Room has been measured by the Home Furnishing and Decoration class, with the view of planning decorations for the room. They are taking into consideration the best covering for the floor, the color for the walls, the materials for window draperies, and the selection of suitable furniture to make the room attractive and restful.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

The A. N. Palmer Company awarded thirty-four certificates to students of the penmanship class during the spring quarter. Twenty-three of these were teacher's certificates, two were student's final certificates, and nine were certificates of improvement. Those receiving teacher's certificates were the following: Louise Atwood, Mary Wray, Marie Wood, Ruth Pepper, Marjorie Wilson, Betty F. Thomas, Virginia Reece, Helen Qualls, Stella Pettigrew, Josephine O'Connor, Christine Graff, Lareata M. Downing, Elizabeth Moore, Oren R. Masters, Burley Lucas, Rita Kinseid, Merlyh James, Bessie Haskell, Thelma Hodgkin, G.

David Nicholson spent Thursday at the College.

W. Hannum, V. R. Gusewelle, Marlan Catterson, and Orval Adams. Those receiving student's final certificates were Kathryn Hallock and Verle Fleetwood. The following received certificates of improvement: Helen Young, Cleo Van Hoozer, Emerald Tibbitts, Wilma Schmidt, Rob Reith, Everett Lee Owens, Kathryn Liley, John Kurtz, and Melvin Cartwright.

Mr. Rogers has been receiving advertisements concerning the teaching of penmanship, from the A. N. Palmer Company and also from various other reliable companies. Just now he has two charts called self-teaching charts, posted on the west wall of room 118. Anyone who is interested in teaching penmanship is welcome to come in and investigate, at any convenient time.

RURAL CLUB

The Rural Club met Thursday June 18. The following program on the life and works of Herbert Quick was given:

Biography—Jack Sheley.
Literary Works—Mrs. D. L. May.
Discussion of "Brown Mouse"—Leslie Holcomb.
Reading—Mr. Miller.

At the business session the changing of the name of Rural Club to Country Life Club was discussed. The reasons given for wishing this change were that the name Rural Club is not broad enough and that many, because of its name, misjudged the real meaning of the club. Country Life Club would give a broader scope to the work of the club, which includes the work of the district and the community life problems. A vote will be taken at the next regular meeting.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Social Science Club was held Monday evening, June 22, in the Recreation Room.

The keynote of the discussion was "Evolution," which was viewed in the light of the recent case in Tennessee.

Helen Nail opened the program by giving a brief discussion of the purposes of the Social Science Club and the importance of attaining a social mind. Ganum Finley introduced the "Evolution" program by telling of the purposes and aims of having such a discussion.

Mr. Leeson spoke on the Fundamentals of Evolution, explaining the theory to the club from a biological standpoint, after which this was applied by the group to the discussion of the case in Tennessee.

David Nicholson spent Thursday at the College.

ENGLISH TEACHERS TO CONDUCT SURVEY

National Council of English Teachers Prepares Questionnaire to Ascertain English Problems.

Every teacher of English, every principal, and every superintendent of schools should co-operate in the investigation of common uses of English which the National Council of Teachers of English is conducting this year.

The object of school work in English is to prepare young people to meet the demands which the situations of life will make upon them. There is wide divergence of opinion, however, as to the success of our endeavors and the adequacy of the methods followed. It is frequently asserted that the level of popular command of English is lower than it ought to be, not only as regards accuracy, but as regards readiness; not only when men and women have to write, but even in their conversation on social and business matters, and in the way they interpret what they hear and what they read. It is asserted also that the English of the schools and the English of life are too far apart.

Before the justice of these assertions can be determined, and before any readjustment of school curricula or methods can be wisely undertaken, we need to know more definitely than now what are the purposes for which the ordinary citizen has to use the medium of language and what kinds of difficulties are involved. We need not only the advice of the expert observer but the testimony of men and women everywhere as to their own actual experience.

The National Council of Teachers of English has accordingly "appealed to the people." It has appointed a Committee on the Place of English in American Life, consisting of John M. Clapp, New York University, Chairman; Rewey B. Inglis of the University of Minnesota; Edwin L. Miller of the Detroit High Schools; Charles S. Pendleton of the Peabody Teachers College of Nashville; and Mary Doan Spalding of the Harris Teachers College, St. Louis, to find out for what uses, business men, farmers, doctors, laborers, housewives and all of us employ English, which of these uses are most frequent, and what chief difficulties the users feel in each situation.

Such data, collected from thousands of typical citizens of all occupations, should make it possible for the schools to set up more definite objectives and to determine somewhat accurately the emphasis due to each of them. As the expense of a national straw vote would be out of the question, the Committee is using a modified questionnaire procedure, conducted in each town by a local committee representing all walks of life: business and professional people, labor unions, women's clubs, etc. The members of this committee distribute the questionnaire personally among their acquaintances.

The questionnaire in itself is an education, as in it is embodied a fresh and profound analysis of the whole problem of teaching English. It is divided into two sections, the first entitled "The Common Uses of English for Communication," and the second "The Common Uses of English for Interpretation."

Under "The Common Uses of English for Communication" we have sections on Interviews, Conversation, Public Speaking, and Writing. Under the head of Interviews there are questions on the use of English in the adjustment of claims, on dealings with customers or patrons, on the collection of information, on reports, on giving instructions to subordinates, and on conference. Under the head of Conversation there are inquiries about talks with strangers or casual acquaintances, on the use of English at social gatherings, and on telephone talk. Under the head of Public Speaking are: Taking Part in Public Discussion at the Meeting of a Club or Organization, Preparing a Speech for a Special Occasion, and Conducting a Meeting as Chairman. Under the head of Writing we have questions on diaries, memoranda, bookkeeping, notes of invitation, acceptance, introduction and condolence, reports and notices of an organization, written instructions to subordinates, business letters, advertisements, and news.

The Use of English for Interpretation is divided in this questionnaire into Reading and Listening. Under Reading there are questions about newspapers, the use of books of reference, interpretation of legal papers, study of technical periodicals or serious books, reading for stimulus, recreation, and culture, and the reading of standard literature. Under the head of Listening we have questions on addresses, lectures, radio programs, plays, business interviews, conferences and conventions.

In addition to distributing these questionnaires the local committee members discuss the general topic of the investigation with persons or groups representative of various interests. The reports of these less formal expressions of intelligent laymen should prove as valuable as the more statistical data from the questionnaires.

Laymen see the value of this undertaking and are responding most heartily. They approve both the aims and the procedure. Scores of local groups are already at work, but the national committee is prepared to handle returns from hundreds of communities—cities, towns and rural districts. Teachers willing to co-operate in the formation of committees in their own localities should write at once to John M. Clapp, 15 East 26th Street, New York City, for copies of the Questionnaire and more detailed information regarding the investigation.—School and Community.

Mr. Lamkin Goes to Indianapolis. Mr. Lamkin will leave tonight for Indianapolis, to attend the National Education Association which opens Sunday, June 28. He will be gone until the latter part of next week.

Harriett Jean Stanton of King City was a week-end guest of Laura Albert Frank at Residence Hall.

Publishers Display Their Text Books

Many text books are being displayed in the college this week by several different publishing houses. The Allyn and Bacon Company, Chicago, publishers of high school texts, is represented by C. M. Withrow of Tarkio.

George W. Somerville is representing the Scott, Foresman and Company. He has an exhibit of grade, high school, and college texts.

The MacMillan Company has two representatives here, W. C. Sebring of Springfield, and F. F. Hawley of Marshall.

The men report that business is good and that the college students are taking an active interest in examining the books and receiving information about them.

Annual Recreation Day.

The biggest single event of the summer season is the Annual Recreation Day which will be held Wednesday, July 1. Each county group, as well as the group from without the district is expected to give a stunt not to exceed five or six minutes in length.

See Dean Barnard or Mr. Cooper for information concerning Recreation Day.

Notice.

No Green and White Courier will be published next week.

Ada Keltner, a student of S. T. C., spent the week-end at her home in Burlington Junction.

College Presidents To Be Here

Announcement has been made of the fact that the presidents of the Teachers' Colleges of Missouri will meet here sometime this summer. The date has not yet been definitely set.

Dean Parker of Warrensburg will represent Central Missouri State Teachers College because of the fact that President Hendricks was here last year. Springfield State Teachers College sends President C. M. Hill; Cape Girardeau, President Joseph A. Sarna; and Kirksville either President John R. Kirk or President-Elect, Eugene Fair.

A conference of County Superintendents will be held at Warrensburg July 20-25. In addition to specialists in the faculty of the summer term there will be representatives from the Federal Bureau of Education, the State Department of Education, the State Board of Health and some of the most prominent individuals in rural education of the United States present for lectures to and conferences with the county superintendents who are in attendance at the conference.

Merea Williams, a student at the College, left Monday to attend the first assembly of the Missouri Conference Epworth League. Miss Williams is a delegate from the Epworth League of the M. E. Church, South.

Charlene and Mabel Pixler of Compton, California, are visiting relatives and friends here for three weeks. They were former S. T. C. students.

Henderson-Farmer.
The announcement has been received of the marriage of Etha Henderson to John E. Farmer, which took place at Hammond, Indiana, June 17.

Leighly-Henkel.
Blanche Leighly of Dwight, Kansas, and John H. Henkel of Bruning, Nebraska, were united in marriage June 18, at the home of the bride. Mrs. Henkel attended S. T. C. during the summers of 1922-23. She came to this school in order to get the work offered in vitalized agriculture, which she helped to introduce in the rural schools of Nebraska. They will be at home in Bruning, after July 25.

Hudson-Flomerfelt.
La Vora Hudson of Gilman City and Glen Flomerfelt of Kansas City were married at the bride's home last Sunday morning at ten o'clock, the Reverend Mr. Walrath, pastor of the M. E. Church, officiating.

Miss Mildred Dunn rendered a violin solo "Song of Love" and sang, "I Love You Truly."

The attendants were: Mildred Hudson, sister of the bride and Luther Welden, a cousin.

Father Flanagan's Boys Give Concert

Father Flanagan, the founder of a home for homeless boys in Omaha, visited Maryville last week for the third consecutive year. He brought with him a group of boys from nine to fifteen years of age who gave two concerts, one in the afternoon especially for children, and the other in the evening for adults. Both programs were pleasing and the boys were greeted with large crowds both times. A free-will offering was taken.

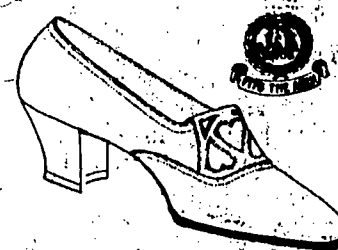

These concerts were given for the benefit of the boys who live in Father Flanagan's home at Omaha. This home was established a number of years ago, for homeless boys, regardless of race, class, or creed. There is no other home like this in America.

A group of college girls enjoyed a Dutch line party at the Empire Theater, Tuesday night. The picture was Colleen Moore in "Sally." After the show refreshments were served at the Maryville Drug Store.

Those in the party were Doris Page, Lucille Sturin, Laura Margaret Raines, Helen Drago, Mary Brown and Mary Grems.

Tracy Dale was an Albany visitor over the weekend. He attended the wedding of Miss LaVora Hudson and Mr. Glen Flomerfelt at Gilman City on Sunday.

Students Save Money

by having their things cleaned often. Keeping the colors bright and everything neat makes a dress look better and wear longer.

Cleaning isn't an expense for either man or woman; it's an investment in longer wear, better appearance, and increased satisfaction. The more you have the better your life.

An Ideal Combination

Most every successful man and woman can trace his success to a happy combination of good character, a factor properly valued by his banker, and the ability to save.

College students are cultivating their characters, their ability to do and to make money. But the ability to save must not be neglected if financial independence is sought in later life.

The services of this bank are at your disposal in solving your financial problems.

The Stroller

The Stroller has always been glad he has not been a College high school student but is not so sure now that he hears the high school folk talking about their "Eat, a better pie" society.

He thinks he would like that better than to have to belong to one where the members are always begging, "Pie! Oh, make a pie!"

Why pie is so popular he doesn't know. Neither does he know why Miss Terhune tried to run over Miss Nell Hudson's new Buick with her Ford unless it was because a certain gentleman from a distant state happened to be in Missouri. Oh, well—

Let's talk about a certain instructor in music who remarked in the instrumentation class: "Something fell in my room last night and made such a noise it woke me up, and I haven't found out yet what it was."

"Oh," remarked the superior young person, anxious to solve the mystery, "perhaps it was you who fell."

"Oh, no, it was some small article, don't you see?"

That is not so bad, but what do you think of this? A student in Miss Wyatt's class asked yesterday for a book of fiction! The Stroller is puzzled to know just which authors produce fiction.

As the Stroller was in the library the other night, he became much alarmed and thought sure there was going to be a murder. A student rushed up to the librarians and said, breathlessly, "I want to kill Patrick!" She handed him a book and he sat down to devour it. The Stroller became brave and slipped over to see what miserable murder story was being read but was suddenly left limp to see it was only Kilpatrick's Project Book.

The Stroller is convinced that some one besides the faculty is working else why would a student so confuse sewing and biology as to dream of making a kimono for a paramour?

And now the Stroller wonders if the clock in the library isn't going bad again since it's running around by the hour.

The Stroller is also anxious for the safety of some of the statuary in the library—The Scouts seem to be overtaxing their eyes watching what keeps coming in.

Can you imagine, in a class of some ninety students, an instructor taking upon himself the responsibility of keeping all pencils sharpened while the students wrote on an examination? This really did happen, so the Stroller has been told in one of Mr. Phillips' classes one day this week. Mr. Phillips, by this act of kindness has been honored with a new title, "The Star Whittler."

Hoping to win a title for himself, the Stroller suggests a method of preserving a chair in the library when one steps out. Just leave a watch, valuable fountain pen, or some open pocket-book lying on it. Most people are trained not to touch things that do not belong to them or that are not public.

Parties Are Given For Former Students

Dixie Miller of St. Joseph, and Margaret Lott of Edgerton spent the week-end visiting Maryville friends.

Alice Peery and Mildred Shinabarger entertained with an informal porch party, in their honor, Saturday afternoon, at the Peery home on West Third street.

Saturday night, the visitors were given a "slumber party" at the home of Lucille Wright on South Main street.

The guests and hostesses are all former students of S. T. C.

Mr. Larson of Lincoln, Nebraska, former Conservatory instructor of S. T. C., is taking along with his teaching in the University of Nebraska, a course in education with Mr. Englehart and Mr. Strayer, lecturers. Many students of S. T. C., have used the Strayer and Englehart text books. Mr. Englehart, lectures the first five weeks of the summer term there and Mr. Strayer the last. Mr. Larson writes that he finds the work very interesting.

The twenty-eighth annual commencement exercises of Buchanan County Rural Schools were held Saturday, June 13, in the Robidoux High School building. The Reverend Mr. Snodgrass of Maryville, delivered the address. There were 157 graduates from 49 schools. The largest number of graduates from any one was from Spring Garden, of which school Darlene Hall, a student of S. T. C., is one of the teachers. Those from here who attended were: Minnie Hanks, Viola Campbell, Nannie Walter, Ruth Simpson, Elizabeth Beeler Sims, Cecile Gelfarth, and Verda Waller.

Edward and Leibel Gartin former students are now in California.

College Notes

The Teacher Training Department of Notre Dame College held its first graduation exercises, June 15. The class, composed of five young ladies, received "Teacher's Provisional Certificates" from the State Board of Education. This entitles them to teach in the elementary grades in any Ohio school.

Each of the students received excellent grades in her examinations. They have established a record of which the school is proud and have also set a high standard for other classes to follow.

President Lindsey Blaney, head of the College of Industrial Arts, Denton, Texas, in response to a number of requests, delivered his recent assembly address in uniform. He is a lieutenant-colonel in the reserve corps of the United States Army.

He wishes the students to uphold the law, the church, the school, and the law. He calls these the cornerstones of American life.

Colonel Blaney has recently visited many eastern colleges and he feels that the buildings do not make the institutions. The libraries must have a soul and ideals that they carry out. He also said that the beautiful campus of their own college should be an example for students to follow in the towns where they will live in the future.

The senior class of Park College presented a side walk from the library to the science hall as its gift to the college. The men of the class laid the walk, most of the work being done early in the morning before classes.

For a number of years the students of various colleges and high schools have been hearing how atrociously its members are using the English language. The Northern State Teachers College of Aberdeen, South Dakota, tried this plan of centering attention on the good qualities of the speech of its students. A prize was offered to the student who, in the opinion of a faculty committee, used the best English throughout the year, on and off the campus.

According to a Chicago University professor, a man is educated when he can answer "yes" to these questions. Has your education made you a friend of all good causes, and helped you to espouse them? Do you see anything to love in a little child? Do you believe that plowing or washing dishes is as dignified as playing golf or playing the piano? Can you look in a mud-puddle and see a blue sky? Can you look into a sky at night and see beyond the stars?

The enrollment for the vacation period work at Missouri University has reached a high mark. Last week 1570 students had signed up for the summer course.

The members of the London Assembly of the Royal Society witnessed the working of an instrument called the Shakespeare Kathrometer with which it was possible to measure a fly's respiration. It is claimed that the Kathrometer can measure also the breathing of a plant, find the water vapor in the air, and detect the most minute leakage of gas in the envelopes of balloons and airships. Tests are to be made to determine its value in medical research.

A. of the Missouri National Guard, and Captain Kyle Phares, Captain of Battery C, will attend a four days' instruction school at St. Louis, July 24, preparatory to the two weeks' summer training camp at Fort Riley, Kansas, July 12-26. The N. E. A. Program of the National Geographic Society.

One of the most remarkable geographical films ever made will accompany the address which Major Merian C. Cooper, explorer and flying ace, will deliver before the geography conference to be held under the auspices of the National Geographical Society at the National Educational Convention in Indianapolis.

Major Cooper will tell what he and two other Americans experienced when they fell in with the fierce Bakhtiari, a tribe of Persia's "wild west," and accompanied their migration over the "wickedest 200 miles in the world." When summer sears the grass of the Tigris lowlands, the Bakhtiari and thousands of their neighbor tribes with herds of cattle, sheep, goats, horses, donkeys, dogs, and chickens must journey to upland grass or starve. To get to grass they swim the half-mile wide, whirling, ice-cold Karun River. They scale trackless mountain ridges. They climb snow-capped mountains. For miles and miles the thin black line of march makes great zigzags against the snow as they toil onward with bare, bleeding feet.

Ernest P. Shoedsack brought back a film epic of the migration.

The National Geographic Society has invited members of the National Educational Association attending the Convention to hear the address by Major Cooper and see the showing of the motion pictures at the Shortridge High School, 2 o'clock Thursday, July 2.
